Resources and Materials for Teaching

Resources:

- Craft in America's IDENTITY episode is viewable online at craftinamerica.org/episode/identity and pbs.org/craft-in-america/tv-series/identity
- The National Museum of the American Indian website: Cara Romero's work brings together the past and the present of Indian life. The National Museum of the American Indian provides abundant content, historic and contemporary, for potential exploration by your students. For example, they may decide to tell a story about an Indian artist of yesterday or today. Many contemporary Native American artists are featured on the site. americanindian.si.edu
